If we consider the previous year question Papers of General Studies-IV, the questions were divided into two parts as: 1. Theory-based Questions (based on the theoretical aspects of the ethics), and 2. Case Studies (based on the actual or probable life situations). The answers are divided into two portions with first one detailing about the framework of the answer or background of the question, giving details about the basic idea of the question or the form of case study. They ought to get the best service at a fair rate, but they have often paid the highest prices for the poorest kind of work. Civil-service reform had two things to accomplish first, to prevent the government service, the service of the whole people, from being misused for politicians or parties second, to provide for choosing fit men for the public service, on truly democratic principles. Usually, after each election, the politicians who had won wanted places for their friends. They began this cry as long ago as the time of Thomas Jefferson. But Jefferson refused to remove good officers, unless they had been violent partisans. The party workers, nevertheless, kept up their pressure, and by the time of Jackson it was recognized that to the victors belong the spoils. This meant that the half of the American people which won in an election were entitled to look upon the other half as victims of war. This was a very un-american, un-democratic, un-republican spirit.
